

GREEN SPEED CONNECTING

Green Speed Connecting, hosted by the Canada Green Building Council Atlantic Chapter and its Emerging Green Professionals group, is a series of networking events with an emphasis on the importance of environmental jobs and is a chance to meet those working in the sector and see the different career options that exist for green jobs.

Local green building and sustainability professionals to share “what they do” and “how they got there” with students and young professionals from across the region.

These events are “speed dating” style. Every attendee will have time with industry professionals.

Emerging Green Professionals and Mentors will be matched before the event.
